

Question: What would you like to tell other students about this course?

Term: Spring 2016. Instructor: HAUNER, THOMAS. Section: ECON 3410 TR9

of course

Nice course

professor is well organized

Do all the HW, he's a good prof.

clear lecture and easy with grading in assignments

he writes on the board so make sure to take down all the notes

This course have homework due every week but it really help a lot of understanding.

ATTEND EVERY CLASS! Professor Hauner goes through each topic thoroughly and you will miss out on so much if you miss class.

This course is very intense. If you do not have a background in math, prepare to take a lot of time learning the concepts and doing the homework because it will take you a while.

He's a nice proressor, gives many assignments which you have to stay on top of so you don't falk behind. Exams we're take home apart from the final and ge drops the lowest score.

The instructor is very nice, he is very fair. The subject is difficult. He likes to break everything down, so the students understand each steps. He writes a lot of notes on the board. The class is boring, so it's very easy for your mind to wonder and not focus..

Term: Fall 2015. Instructor: HAUNER, THOMAS. Section: ECON 3410 TR9

hard course

the class is hard

This is a difficult course.

He is a grad student teacher who is new.

Great class's to attend a lot of note jotting

Professor is good explaining about the problems

it is very hard, but professor is nice and knowledgable

Its hard and unlikely we'll ever use this after graduating.

Great teacher and the class is challenging for students who like maths.

IT's Math, ist not fun and he does not make it fun. very straight foward.

I would highly recommend Professor Hauner, he is dedicated, organized,fair, and knows the content well. TB

Its a course you need, and Professor Hauner is one who is very knowledgeable in the subject. He really goes into detail on formulas, functions and others. Hell map out the formula for you and provide examples and answered all questions without hesitation. He was good in my opinion and I'd ignore rate my professor and what they say and I would take him for this course

study

challenging

Its a fun class

its a difficult course.

He is an excellent professor

Great professor! Very respectable and knowledgeable

It's a lot of work. You have to do tutoring and teach yourself

the professor is great! extremely fair grader and is super helpful

Do your homework! !! Don't slack off and study. Stay on top of your work

It's challenging and you have to practice a lot. Study the homework and practice exams.

very challenging, a major recap on his algebraic concepts is needed before entering the course

Course is hard and you need to pay attention, but the professor is amazingly generous. Definitely take the class, you will more than likely pass

The course is informative. It's a review of what some of us did in High School. The materials towards the end gets rather difficult, so be prepared.

Wonderful professor to take for ECON 3410. Always available to help students and gives great review sheets before the exams. Made math easy and understandable.

The class gets challenging but it is required. With that said Hauner is very knowledgeable in the subject, is always there to help, and is very fair. Would recommend him for anyone who needs this class.

A great professor. Very personable. Very understanding when it comes to issues you might have and gets back to you promptly via email. Lenient in grading and attendance as long as you are doing your work.

Two midterms, he drops the lower one. So if you do well on the first you can coast till the final. midterm and final are worth 40 percent each and the weekly hw assignments online for 20%. you can get it wrong a re submit so you ll get the full 20%. Hes very nice and the content in class is hard, don't freak out though cause he gives you his old exams to study from for the tests which is a huge help. Certainly recommend him.

Term: Fall 2014. Instructor: HAUNER, THOMAS. Section: ECON 3410 EMW6

It is very hard.

very challenging

take this class either freshman or sophomore year

This course is tough. Do your homework. Study. Pay attention.

This course is extremely difficult. Find an alternative course.

Great professor, gives review sheets and hw is online with unlimited tries.

Course is more on the economic side with the use of mathematical equations and calculus.

This guy is not easy. He knows the material very well...almost too well where he make it complicated.

Hauner is a great math teacher. He really breaks everything down and makes sure you understand the material

A lot of information you have to retain. You must do your due diligence and study outside of class regularly to keep up.

Very Difficult... Will never see material again after you walk out of the final.... But you gotta do what you gotta do... Good Luck

He is a good professor, but he speed through the material, the homework is meant to help you teach yourself. He's good for a student teacher...

It is a difficult subject, that needs great deal of attention; it covers multiple math topics and must have your full attention to do well in the course.

he makes a difficult course boring and harder than it needs to be. Please take another instructor if you want to keep your sanity. His HW's take a min 3 hrs.

One of the best math teacher I had since coming to Brooklyn College. He very helpful, a great listener and he try to make you understand the lesson even though it very overwhelming at times.

I think the topics covered in this course are absolutely irrelevant. At least the way they are taught and presented. 80% of the material you will never have to use in the real world. It's unfortunate this class is still a business major requirement.

If you have not taken math in a few years, it would be a good idea to brush up on the basics. This course is packed with formulas, properties, rules, etc. If math is not your strong suit, you will most likely struggle through this course. I strongly suggest a tutor if you can afford one. Don't look for much of what you learn to be applied to real world situations.

Professor Hauner is horrible. His class was so confusing and difficult and he throws way too many topics at you in one class that it is impossible to even understand. He goes through material too quick it was absolutely miserable being in his class. I had to self teach myself with tutoring and online calculus tutorials. More than half of the class wanted to go to the department to complain it was that bad. Prof Hauner can not teach simply stated.

Term: Spring 2014. Instructor: HAUNER, THOMAS. Section: ECON 3410 TR3

Knowledge of calculus is good to have before taking this class

This course applies precalculus and calculus topics to business applications.

Great course if you enjoy math.

okay math class, but professor is brand new so you will need to learn everything by yourself. and the curve is crazy

Professor Hauner is a great professor. He clearly communicates the course material. He has a great understanding of mathematical economics, and is great at relaying his knowledge.

It's math, however the prof explains it clearly and does give examples. Students need to practice in order to get it. Also remember to go the online homework. Before an exam, he gives an online review assignment, if you do that you should be prepared for the tests.

On the first day he came in and just started writing on the board, i don't even think he knows my name or who I am but he is really knowledgeable on the subject. He gives an online assignment every week and they actually help you review the material, he gives 2 midterms and drops the lowest score. Great Professor

The professor including math lab with is the best for educating your self around any HW or study question. Great tool and very helpful! wish other professors would utilize this.

this course is very difficult no matter who you take it will not be east but professor hauner is more than fair and if you dont understand him the hw will help do the work you will pass

My understanding was that we were going to be learning calculus in economical functions. The class was straight up calculus.

good course sometimes challenging..stay on top of it difficult course but useful. brush up on your math skills.

Business students are forced to take this course. It won't provide to your career aspects.

Econ majors should be able to do this kind of math. Who cares about business majors they are dumb anyway.

hes the best

very nice guy

This is a hard class

important for business
